

Iris Firstenberg, Ph.D.
Adjunct Associate Professor
UCLA Anderson School of Management

Iris R. Firstenberg Ph.D., Associate Adjunct Professor at UCLA, teaches in the Anderson School MBA programs, Anderson School Executive Education programs, and the UCLA Department of Psychology. She specializes in strategies for creative problem solving and innovative thinking and presents seminars and keynotes for a wide cross-section of Fortune 500 organizations. Her latest book is Extraordinary Outcomes: Shaping an Otherwise Unpredictable Future (John Wiley & Sons, 2014). Iris was awarded the 2002 UCLA Department of Psychology Faculty Distinguished Teaching Award and the 2011 UCLA Extension Distinguished Teaching Award.